

A full-page background image showing a dense forest of tall, slender trees with lush green foliage. The trees are closely packed, and their canopies fill the upper two-thirds of the frame. The lower third shows the light-colored, smooth trunks of the trees. The sky is a pale, uniform greyish-blue.

Xylo Surfaces have been supplying unique high end, innovative decorative surfaces to the KBB, furniture and interiors industry for over 15 years.

Our product portfolio includes a diverse selection of decorative faced panels.

We offer a bespoke customer service experience for specifiers, designers, architects, furniture/cabinet makers, fabricators as well as the end user, from our showroom at the Business Design Centre, Islington, London, where a full presentation of all the products can be viewed.

As a result of our exceptional products and attention to detail added to our personal customer service, we have managed to draw the attention of top tier designers and architects from all over the world, thus gaining global recognition.

All of the Xylo Surfaces products are manufactured in the leading design capitals of Europe.

Particleboard Core Material - Poplar Wood
- Our particleboards are manufactured by using natural wood from specific tree types that come from forests managed in an eco-friendly way with FSC® certification.

We use certified resins with low formaldehyde content to bind the wood chips together, meeting the strict standards of the CARB2 / TSCA Title VI regulations.

Our particleboards are therefore free from impurities, chemicals and processing residues unlike recycled panels.

We use a combination of poplar wood and resinous wood (such as fir and pine) that come from parts of planted trees that are not being used.

Poplar wood is obtained from the section of the tree that are not used by plywood and paper manufacturers.

We create a safe and environmentally friendly product with a lightweight compact structure by using natural raw materials.

We concentrate on creating new products and designs, resulting in a range of melamine faced particleboards that blend natural wood panels with elegant decorative options.
